

FREE Emergency Preparedness Training for Your Students!

The Pillowcase Project Learn. Practice. Share.

The Red Cross is offering a free 40- or 60-minute disaster preparedness presentation for 2nd-5th graders in your area! The Pillowcase Project presentation teaches students:

- How they and their households can best prevent, prepare for and escape from a home fire
- What causes natural hazards like earthquakes, hurricanes and tornadoes
- How they and their households can prepare for and stay safe when a natural hazard becomes an emergency
- Practical skills to help cope with and stay calm during emergencies and other stressful situations
- What tools and practices they and their households can use to be prepared for all types of emergency situations
- About the Red Cross and what we do

Students will receive the My Preparedness Workbook and a sturdy pillowcase to hold their own emergency supplies kit.

Educators will receive a Teacher's Packet with classroom posters, hands-on lesson plans and an Educational Standards Report.

Schedule a FREE presentation today! Provide your students and their families with this vital emergency preparedness training from the Red Cross.
