The policy also states students may be required to remove smart watches at teacher discretion.

Chante Public Schools has implemented the following consequences.

— First offense: Guardian must pick up the phone, and the student will owe one after-school detention.

— Second offense: Guardian must pick up the phone, and the student will owe two after-school detentions.

— Third offense: Guardian must pick up the phone, and the student will serve one day in ISS, along with being required to turn their phone into the office daily.

Their policy also states that offenses will reset at the conclusion of each semester.

The Erie High School Student Handbook policy is more generalized.

"All schools in the district are considered to be 'No Phone Zones' for the students upon arrival to the building and during the remainder of the school day. All personal electronic devices are also not permitted during that same time period. This would include smart watches, headphones, and any other device with WiFi and/or Bluetooth capability. Exceptions can be made on a case-by-case basis through the building administrator. Each school will have procedures and locations where phones and personal electronic devices can be safely secured while school is in session."

Neodesha Public Schools does allow high school students' use of phones outside of the classroom. However, junior high students are not allowed to have electronic devices in the building.

Their policy states: "Senior high students are not permitted to have personal electronic devices used within any classroom, bathroom, assemblies, or locker room in the building. ZERO TOLERANCE. The appropriate use of personal electronic devices is: before and after school hours in the hallways; during the passing period in the hallways; and during the student's lunch period. All electronic devices used at these times should be kept on 'vibrate' or 'silent' mode."

The consequences are as follows:

— First offense: an after-school detention, and the student picks up the phone from the office at the end of the detention.

— Second offense: an after-school detention, and the student picks up the phone from the office at the end of the detention.

— Subsequent offenses: an in-school suspension, and the student picks up the phone from the office at the end of the in-school suspension.

All policies are typically reviewed annually by the board of education. All of the schools noted here have updated student handbooks available to the public on their respective district websites.

Leamona FCA learns about hospice

The recent Leamona FCE meeting was called to order by President Janis Reinhardt and Jackie Ward gave the lesson "Understanding Hospice." The lesson was provided by K-State Research and Extension.

Attendees learned that to find a hospice provider, one can call 1-800-633-4227 or speak with a doctor. Hospice is a group of people who can help patients and families at the end of one's life. They help the patient to be as comfortable as possible and give relief to family members. Attendees learned that hospice helps with developing a care plan, supporting and providing instructions for caregivers, assisting with daily tasks and providing grief support to the family.

The hospice physician is responsible for easing the physical symptoms of terminal illness. A registered nurse provides nursing care, and a hospice aide provides hands on care. A hospice social worker helps identify resources within the community or through agencies. Community volunteers can provide relief for caregivers by offering a short break; this is called respite care.

In other business, a report was given from Neosho County Fair activities. It was reported that all went well with the club's booth about flour and the samples that were given to attendees.

Discussion was held concerning the State Fair in Hutchinson, Sept. 5-14.

The FCE State meeting will be Oct. 9-11 in Dodge City. Several members are planning to attend. Rooms and transportation were planned.

The next meeting will be Sept. 4, with Janis Reinhardt giving a lesson, "Protect Your Skin from Sun."

Those interested in the Leamona FCE can call Sharon Carpenter at 620-431-8532 for more information.

"There's a lot to consider between the plans," Carpenter said.

Hemby and Carpenter said they also meet with individuals outside of the office to offer information and answer their questions prior to enrollment, or when considering changes to their plan. Carpenter and Hemby said there are even more options for individuals in unique circumstances that they can help clients navigate.

"The great thing about using a local agent is that you aren't stuck with the 1-800 number," Carpenter said.

Hemby and Carpenter spend a lot of time connecting seniors to community resources as well.

"You can never be too aware," Carpenter said. "We want our clients to be educated. We want to help them make the best decision for them, and not find themselves in a position they don't want to be in, or one that isn't working for them down the road."

Have a great week!

Good day Chanute. I want to take the time to brag on our therapy department. They are some of the best I have seen. Our team treats our residents as if they were family. They go out of there way to find fun therapeutic things for them to do, as seen in the picture they were making homemade spaghetti. They even let me have some, it was mighty tasty. I have seen our team work their magic time and time again. We at Heritage are very thankful for them. I hope everyone has a blessed weekend.
